

Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 30 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:

Variable amounts of cloud but feeling warm on Thursday.

This Evening and Tonight:

Dry with sunny spells and some passing cloud through the evening. Remaining dry through the night with increasing cloud. A fresh feeling night rurally in the east. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Thursday:

A dry start with mostly cloudy skies for northern parts, sunnier further south. Warm sunny spells during the afternoon. Cloudier through evening with a risk of showers overnight. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:

Sunny spells on Friday with perhaps an afternoon shower. Mostly cloudy on Saturday with showers, at times heavy. Sunny spells and showers, locally heavy and thundery on Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.